SafeRack Storage Systems Installation Training

Because someone can build a bay of shelving does not mean they are qualified to build a four story high pick module. This could have serious consequences if the installation is done poorly.

Since 2005 SafeRack has been offering training programs for in-house as well as outside installation technicians on the proper procedures to accomplish the complex tasks associated with the installation of the various types of storage systems.

These programs consist of both in-class and hands-on training which requires the demonstration of proficiency in the skill sets needed to safely and properly install the storage system.

Installation training for storage systems came into the spotlight in late 2006 during a Coroners Inquest into a collapse of a storage system which resulted in the death of a worker, in Ontario Canada. One of the recommendations put forward by the jury was that the people who install, maintain and repair the storage systems be trained how to do this properly.

Courses offered on the following types of warehouse storage systems:

- Selective Pallet Rack
- Pallet Flow Rack
- Push-Back Rack
- Drive-In Rack
- Cantilever Rack
- Pick Modules
- Automated Storage Systems
